CUMBRIA
CONSTABULARY

This leaflet gives details of a new Short Messaging Service introduced by Cumbria Constabulary to enable people who are deaf, hearing impaired or speech impaired to contact the Emergency Services

The service ONLY applies if the emergency occurs in the Cumbria area.

Why have the police introduced a text messaging service?

At present it is not possible for Deaf, hearing impaired or speech impaired people to contact the emergency services direct. To get round this problem, Cumbria Constabulary in partnership with the Cumbria Fire and Rescue Service and the North West Ambulance Service have created a new special number specifically for emergency contact to the '999' service using a text message.

There is always a delay in sending text messages. If you do not get a response within 2 minutes, you should try again or use alternative methods of contacting the police. ONLY use text messaging as a last resort.

Who can use this service?

The service is ONLY available to deaf, hearing impaired or speech impaired people of all age groups. The service is NOT available to anyone else.

HOW TO SEND A TEXT MESSAGE

WHAT sort of information will the police need?

The quality of the text message you send is crucial if we are to provide the proper response. To enable us to respond adequately, it is crucial that you provide the following information:

Where are you?

Try to be as accurate as possible. For example, is there a street name? Recognised place, feature nearby such as a cinema, church, library, shop or company name etc which will help us pinpoint your location? Include the post code if it is known.

The location of any incident which has taken place;

WHY?

Why do you need this service?
Give brief details of what has happened.

This service is ONLY to be used to report an emergency.

An emergency is an incident which requires an IMMEDIATE police response eg:

- A serious injury has been caused or there is a threat of serious injury;
- A crime is in progress and the suspects are at or near the scene;
- A road traffic collision involving injury.
- A building is on fire.

Please use an alternative method to contact us if your call is not an emergency.
